NO NEW HEPATITIS CASES

St. Edward Hospital reports no new cases of infectious hepatitis have been admitted for treatment since eleven cases were reported July 18 by county health officials.

Area Roundup City Manager Fired

ROCKDALE
An irate City Manager N. E. Alford called Rockdale Mayor Darral Walker "a liar", demanded that the city council fire him, and was accommodated by a 3-1 vote. Alford, 73, has been at city hall since 1947 when he was appointed city secretary. Ernie Moore of Galveston was hired as new city manager at a salary of $15,000 a year.

Explosion Kills Gatesville Man

GATESVILLE
Rev. Marion Eugene Griffin, 57, of Gatesville was killed instantly when a gasoline barrel he was cutting with an acetylene torch exploded. The Justice of the Peace said part of the barrel struck Griffin's shoulder and face. He was pronounced dead at the scene.

TI Told To Advertise Service

WACO
The Waco airport advisory board told Texas International Airlines to get promotion going so that people will know about their new jet service and on-time record, in turn for giving them an exclusive airline contract to service Waco. The service started June 15.

Mayor Vetoes Salary Increase

LAMPASAS
As he has done following several city council actions within the last year, Lampasas Mayor Henry Campbell vetoed a $1,200 yearly pay increase for City Adm. and Engineer Dale Henry. The Mayor said the present salary is far more than other cities of comparable size in the entire United States. The salary under question is $22,500 per year.

Sheriff To Expand Staff

GEORGETOWN
Sheriff August Bosshard will expand his Williamson County jail staff, increasing the present jailer's work week and hiring a relief jailer. Additional personnel will allow jailers to check cells every fifteen minutes, the sheriff said. The relief jailer will be in addition to the jailer and his present relief.

Water Rationing Threatens

MCGREGOR
"If McGregor people do not hold water consumption down to the bare minimum, rationing will have to come," Mayor Punk Morris said last week. He said McGregor is in a water crisis and with the hot, dry weather, the possibility of fire is great. The city does not have the water reserve it needs, he said.

Taxes Raised

HEARNE
School taxes were raised 15 percent, from $1.30 to $1.50 per $100 valuation at a special meeting of the school board. The increase was necessary to meet inflation, raise teachers' salaries, and add workmen's compensation insurance, the superintendent said.

Appaloosa Horse Show Set

BELTON
The annual American Legion Appaloosa Horse Shows will be held in Belton August 24. Rain or shine, the show will begin at 9 a.m. Entry fee for halter classes is $8 per horse, and $5 for youth classes. There are 37 events scheduled for the annual affair.

Stolen Pickup Abandoned

CALDWELL
A pickup stolen in Cameon late last Sunday night was found abandoned in a bar ditch near Caldwell last Monday. The vehicle had suffered front end damage and fire damage. It was found by the Burleson County Unit of the Texas Department of Public Safety as it investigated some other accidents.

NO ROOM LEFT in the elevators, some of the Milam County grain sorghum crop is piled high at this local grain company. Trucks are lining up to unload each day as the area harvest gets into full swing.

City Denies Beer Sale Permit

City council meeting in regular session Thursday evening at city hall prior to adjourning to the Community Center for a public hearing, denied a request for a permit to sell beer at a local church, amended the budget, and granted an extension for compliance with the Southern Building Code.

The permit was requested by the Blessed Sacrament Catholic Church, which wants to sell beer during its bingo games. Council noted a city ordinance which forbids sale of beer within 300 feet of churches and agreed to comply with the ordinance.

The budget was amended to take care of increased costs in fuels, supplies and other costs to the city. The amendment was advised by auditors who take care of the city's audit.

L. A. Price of Miami, Fla., appeared before the council and asked for an extension on taking care of piece of property in the Reese Addition which does not meet the Southern Building Code and which was cited in a form letter from the city code inspector.

Price, who was acting for his wife and her brother who are heirs of the late Mrs. Daisy Sprott, said the family planned to empty and demolish the house but needed an extension of time. Council voted to grant the extension of 12 months and not more than 18 months.

It was noted at the council meeting that the Highway Department is working out a plan for marketing downtown streets with plastic buttons and markers, and for designing parking areas.

New Works Supt. Bill Dase gave a report to the council on work in this department and listed several items of city equipment which need repair. He outlined work in progress and work that needs to be done. He was authorized to contract for equipment repairs.

Mayor Gene Blake discussed Wilson - Ledbetter Park funds and improvements, and gave a rundown on progress of a joint Lions-City improvement program for the park.

Council appointed Dase to represent the city on the planning commission and will appoint someone to take his place on the housing board, from which he resigned.

Meeting adjourned to the Community Center, and then returned to city hall for an executive session.

Library Friends Open Membership Drive

Membership drive for Friends of the Cameron Public Library opens this week under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Robert Clark and Mrs. Donald Pimpler.

Letters with membership blanks are being mailed to former members and memberships will also be accepted during an open house at the Library Tuesday, August 6.

Friends of the Library sponsor evening and Saturday library hours during the school year, new book purchases, the summer reading program and special children's programs. They also plan a series of literary and music programs for members during the year.

Scheduled programs for the 1974-75 year include the open house from 4 to 6 p.m. August 6, with local arts and crafts displayed, a cake auction sponsored by the Cameron Delphian Club in early fall benefiting the Friends special fund, a Christmas music program in December and a book review in March. A special evening patio party for students with a music group to be announced in the spring is planned for May.

A printed program of events will be distributed at the opening of the Friends year and will include names of Friends sponsors and members.

Oil, Gas Add Income To County

Current higher prices for crude oil and natural gas produced in Milam County point to a significant jump in 1974 income for county land and royalty owners who last year received $73,523 as their share of the county's output, according to a study by Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

"With the average price of Texas crude oil now about $6.70 a barrel, compared with the 1973 average of $3.84 a barrel, and with some newly discovered natural gas selling intrastate for more than $1 per thousand cubic feet, the outlook for the economy of producing communities is encouraging if prices hold up," according to Sherman Hunt, Dallas, Association president.

"Should price rollback schemes and other tax-and-control proposals now underway in Congress be successful, current economic gains will evaporate," Hunt said.

The Association's study shows that crude oil and natural gas produced last year in Milam County was valued at $588,182, ranking the county 176th in the state. Crude oil production of 152,047 barrels was valued at $583,861 and 22.7 million cubic feet of natural gas at $4,321.

Statewide, crude oil prices for 1974 are estimated to be some 74 percent higher than 1973. This expectation has stimulated a revival of drilling in Texas, with well completions the first five months of 1974 at 4,013, a 19 percent jump over the same 1973 period.

From the county's 1973 output, the State of Texas collected $26,858 in oil production taxes and $324 from natural gas.

Also adding to the dollar flow in the county last year were these factors:

--Drilling activities, on which producers spent $520,966 in drilling 10 wells, $389,658 of which was lost in six dry holes. Successful completions amounted to four oil wells.

--Payrolls, which amounted to $232,844 paid to 77 workers, according to Texas Employment Commission figures.

Concert On Mall Tonight

The Rhine Steiners, "oompa" band which was formed to be featured at Cameron's Folk Fete, will present a free concert Monday (tonight) at 8 p.m. on the downtown mall. The public is invited to attend.

Hearing Details UR Project

Only a handful of interested citizens were on hand Thursday evening for a public hearing on an extension of the city's urban renewal program held at the Community Center.

Present were members of the Community Development Agency (formerly the Urban Renewal Agency board) and members of the city council as a continuation of its meeting started earlier at city hall.

Agency Executive Director A. W. McCullin explained the program and showed pictures and maps of the area, which includes three city blocks which were part of the original urban renewal program before it was amended.

He introduced Victor Turley, engineer who will be working with the city on the project. Turley displayed maps showing property acquisition and a projection of how the area can be utilized for public reuse.

Property owners in the area attending the meeting included Tommy Corley, who owns a warehouse next to the fire station and Joe Anderson, who has a business across from city hall.

City Of Ultimate Reality...

The vote was probably about 26 to 12 for impeachment resolutions against President Nixon in the House Judiciary Committee.

Form of the resolutions was not clear at week's end, but the direction of the vote was: House Judiciary was going to ask the full House of Representatives to vote for impeachment.

Assuming this is the case, the U. S. Senate will become a courtroom for the second time in almost 200 years. The U. S. Supreme Court chief justice, Justice Burger, will preside.

He was among the 8-0 Court voting for the White House to send over another 64 tapes to special investigator Leon Jaworski. The House Judiciary may not hear them for some time after that.

It will require a two-thirds or 67 total for this impeachment process to achieve conviction. And that is the point where President Nixon believes the stallout will occur. More than Watergate, the President and this Administration's political eccentricities are on trial here.

The first impeachment vote failed by one to convict Andrew Johnson, Tennessee successor to the assassinated Abraham Lincoln of Illinois. It was not so much Johnson as Lincoln's policy of charity and amnesty toward the South that was one vote from being destroyed. Northern retribution that sought that impeachment also prevailed in the carpetbag days to follow, the years which extended the enmities of civil war another century.

Political chicanery through abuse of executive power is the severe question here. But the 100 U. S. senators are considering one of their own, who in the White House receives the decisions Congress bucks down Pennsylvania Avenue.

A House Democratic caucus, by secret ballot, has already diverted a bipartisan effort to dismantle the House committee seniority system. We cannot see the Senate snuffing out the incumbent unless public opinion overwhelms this "most exclusive club" in the world to put this whole affair in public perspective, constitutional perspective and act upon evidence presented.

Washington is a federal world, the city of ultimate reality in the Western World. And only the weight of 210 million Americans in outrage will bring the eloquence of House Judiciary committeemen to conviction of a president in the U. S. Senate.

Tennis Courts Everybody...

Well. Well.

Tennis courts are popping up in talk, plans and visualization all over Cameron.

Cameron Noon Lions Club is working on two somewhere in the city. Directors of Cameron Country Club are talking about two courts for members.

City councilmen are considering inclusion of construction funding in the 1974-75 fiscal budget.

Planners for the three-block extension of downtown urban renewal even drew in the possibility of a couple of courts in that area as well as a livestock pavilion.

That would be eight new courts if all these projects developed. There are two-and-one-half at Yoe Campus, which need resurfacing and the one-half restored to full time use as a court, replacing the backstops on another outdoor basketball surface somewhere else on school grounds.

The country club needs the courts. The schools need additional courts. The city parks need courts because the city in fact has never built a public tennis court. It is a strong possibility the Noon Lions Club will help there.

We wouldn't be surprised to see a delegation appear before the Cameron City Council before end of summer showing the interest in new courts around town.

Cameron has a way about it. When this community senses the need for a good thing, they meet that need, just like the community or parts of it built two baseball parks.

Your Herald is delighted. All this couldn't happen to a nicer bunch of tennis players. Or a more likely place for a tennis program of this potential to develop, through adult open competition.

It's tennis courts, everybody, as well as everyone for tennis.

Convicted Judge May Be Next Impeachment Case

By Ronald Clarke

Reuter-The House of Representatives, close to deciding whether President Nixon should be impeached over Watergate, may soon have a second impeachment affair on its hand—that of Judge Otto Kerner, former Governor of Illinois.

Kerner, a judge of the U. S. Appeals Court, is due to enter Lexington Prison, in Kentucky, on July 29 to begin a three-year sentence on charges of bribery, mail fraud, tax evasion, conspiracy and perjury.

He is accused of accepting, while state Governor, Racetrack Stock on highly favorable terms in exchange for granting racing dates to certain racecourse groups.

Since his conviction, in February, 1973, Kerner has refused to resign his lifetime post as a judge.

In his appeals against his sentence, he has argued that he is immune from prosecution until he has been impeached—indicted by a majority of the members of the House of Representatives and convicted by two-thirds of the Senate.

Now Illinois Republican members of the House Judiciary Committee, which is considering the impeachment of Mr. Nixon, have warned that failure by Kerner to resign as a judge could lead to an automatic motion being presented on the floor of the house for his impeachment.

This could possibly come before any such motion is presented to the house in case of Mr. Nixon, if such a stop is recommended by the committee.

"I do not like to kick a fallen horse. I sincerely hope Mr. Kerner resigns. But if he insists on trying to remain a judge, the committee will have to go through the impeachment process," Mr. Tom Railsback, one of the committee members, said.

Another Illinois Republican, Mr. Robert McClory, said, "It is indefensible for us not to do anything. Mr. Kerner's conviction should be all the evidence we need."

A number of legal observers believe Mr. Kerner, the first sitting U.S. appellate judge to be convicted of criminal charges, will try to use his position to keep out of prison.

He had previously maintained a sitting federal judge could not be brought to trial unless he was first impeached.

A Chicago lawyer, who asked not to be named, said a lot of Congressmen could be feeling that one impeachment case at a time was enough.

But unless some action was taken, there could be the unusual case of a man locked in a prison drawing 45,500 dollars a year as an appeals judge, the lawyer added.

Since Kerner was convicted, he has been on leave as a Judge and his salary has been paid into a special account and left there.

The lawyer said a Federal Judge can be removed from the Government payroll only if he resigns, dies or is impeached.

Kerner has refused to say whether he will resign before July 29. "If and when I do resign, I'm sure you will all know," he told reporters, but he refused to elaborate.

There is a slight possibility that if Mr. Kerner does not resign as a Judge, he could be released from prison before any impeachment trial could begin.

In sentencing Mr. Kerner to three years imprisonment, Judge Robert Taylor said Mr. Kerner's case should come immediately before the U.S. parole board.

Scientists Build New Orbital Lab

By Barry J. Casebolt
Reuter-European scientists and technologists are building a 360 million dollar space laboratory which the United States will purchase for 20 million dollars.

Dr. James C. Fletcher, administrator of the United States Space Agency, said the U.S. has agreed to the purchase with one provision—the initial manned orbital lab, which the European Space Research Organization (ESRO) will deliver to the space agency here free of charge in 1979, must work properly.

Mr. Heinz Stoewer, space-lab project manager for ESPO in Noordwijk, the Netherlands, said the agreement is part of the joint, cooperative space program between the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Europeans.

The space lab will be used by U.S. and European scientists in a wide variety of disciplines.

Mr. Stoewer and about 60 other European Aerospace and Industrial officials are in Huntsville this week holding detailed working discussions and reviewing plans for development of the space-lab—and its relationship to the U.S. Space shuttle.

Man's future in space—including the building and supporting of moon bases with Europeans, Russians and Americans, and man's quest for knowledge about the universe and his own planet—depends upon an effective space shuttle transportation system.

Under joint NASA-European agreements, the U.S. will develop and build reusable shuttle ferry ships that will go into orbit like a rocket and then land on Earth after a mission like an airplane.

The modular spacelab will be transported into orbit by the shuttle crafts and then assembled.

Shuttle missions using the spacelab are expected to last anywhere from a week to a month.

Mr. Stoewer said construction of the lab will begin early next year and that it will be assembled in Bremen, West Germany under the direction of the Prime contractor team of VFW-Fokker-Erno, a large consortium.

A spokesman for the contractor, Mr. Hans Hoffman of West Germany, said about 1,700 people in Europe will be working on the spacelab, but the program could be affected financially if there is a slip-up in the space shuttle development program in the United States.

Marshall spacelab project manager, Mr. Jack Lee, said the spacelab will come in several configurations, depending on the kind of experimental mission involved.

It will be pressurized so that men and women working inside will not have to wear spacesuits like the sky-lab astronauts did. But there will also be pallets outside the lab for experiments to study diffuse radiation and X-Rays from outer space, as well as oceanographic, water and air pollution and weather detection equipment.

The first spacelab flight into earth orbit will be in 1980 with both American and European scientists participating.

Future missions, however, may have only American or European investigators.

The cost of flight operations will be paid to NASA by whoever uses the space shuttle.

Driver Of Year Offers Vacation Driving Advice

Leo M. Domstead of Lancaster, Texas Motor Transportation Association's "Driver of the Year," and an accomplished truck driver with more than 2,700,000 miles with only one preventable accident, suggests that vacation-bound motorists "remain alert while on the road and try to anticipate other drivers' moves, stay calm, and drive with the traffic conditions."

For example, he urges drivers to:

- Get the feel of the wheel before attempting maneuvers at road speeds. He explains that your car traveling at higher speeds and loaded for a vacation trip will not react to steering or braking as in the case of normal city driving. Thus, you should increase speed gradually as you get the feel of the vehicle's response.

- Don't get too close to the vehicle ahead. He suggests you follow the National Safety Council rule of two seconds' following distance for car drivers. To stay two seconds behind the driver in front, time yourself with a stationary object along the roadside. You should pass the object two seconds after the front driver.

- Don't hesitate to ease up on the accelerator at the first hint of a traffic slowdown ahead. Always be ready to slow the vehicle well ahead of possible danger points.

- For a safe pass on an Interstate Highway, you should move into the left lane only after you're sure nobody is moving up on you. On overtaking the vehicle ahead, tap your horn in the event of a possibility that the other driver may move into the left lane. When you see the vehicle passed in your rear-view mirror, make your signal and return to the right lane.

- Make frequent stops for rest and inspection of your vehicle; remember that high speeds are hard on tires. By stopping every 100 miles you can walk around the vehicle to look for signs of overheating or leaks, checking tires for under-inflation, abnormal wear, etc. This is also a good opportunity to clean your car windows for better vision and to check all vehicle lights.

These suggestions are from a driver who ought to know about all good driving habits, for he has been a professional driver since 1937. His present employer, Red Arrow Freight Lines of San Antonio, sends him out daily under all types of weather and driving conditions between Dallas and Corpus Christi, logging some 90,000 miles a year.

Domstead and other professional drivers like him have contributed to a wealth of experience that has been transcribed into practical driving tips for motorists and published by the American Trucking Associations in a booklet entitled "Practical Driving Tips."

Experienced drivers like Domstead note that motorists should beware of summer showers. Oil, dirt and traffic exhaust tend to build up during periods of dry weather, forming a film that can be treacherous after a few raindrops. Try to avoid puddles that could flood exposed parts of your motor or cause loss of the vehicle's control.

Weekly Market Report

As long as the outdoor cooking season continues in full swing, forequarter cuts of both beef and pork remain the favorite choice for economy, one expert said.

She's Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Good beef buys this week are on chuck roasts and steaks, round steaks and roasts and ground beef."

"Pork values can be found on shoulder roasts and steaks, picnics, hams, end-cut loin roasts and chops, and pork liver."

"Fryer chicken prices are beginning to climb slightly," the specialist noted.

Frozen turkeys - including turkey parts and boneless birds - are readily available in most retail stores.

"Egg prices are low when compared to other protein foods. Grade A Large and medium sizes continue to give the best quality and economy," Mrs. Clyatt said.

Large supplies of cherries and nectarines are on the market now.

Other good quality and reasonably priced fruits are bananas, peaches, grapes, oranges, pineapples, cantaloupe, and watermelon.

"Potato prices are coming down with the increased supplies of new crop potatoes."

"Tomatoes should cost less as more growing areas come into production," the specialist reported.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

A blood test for gonorrhea -- a new weapon in the fight against venereal disease in Texas -- is undergoing a pilot study in the Texas State Department of Health Laboratories in Austin.

While blood tests have been available for syphilis, there has been no accepted blood test for gonorrhea. The serologic procedures for detection of gonorrhea have received increasing attention, especially in efforts to identify those with no outward symptoms -- the asymptomatic carrier.

Health authorities feel that the asymptomatic carriers of gonorrhea are responsible in a large way for the continuation of the disease. Since they do not know they have gonorrhea, they can continue to spread it as long as they are sexually active.

An automated device using an indirect fluorescent antibody technique was developed for detection of antibodies to Neisseria gonorrhoeae in the blood of persons with gonorrhea.

When a disease organism enters a person's body, the body builds up antibodies in the blood to help fight off the intruder. Research scientists have now found a way to detect gonorrhea antibodies using a fluorescent antibody technique.

To be effective, the fluorescent-antibody method of detection must be used on someone who has had an infection long enough for the body to build up its defenses, or antibodies, against it. There is no exact time period for a body to produce antibodies. It may be from seven to 10 days to as long as weeks before the appearance of detectable antibodies; therefore the test is not valuable in diagnosis of early acute infections. The time period may depend on the type and degree of infection, the response of host and the sensitivity of the detection system.

In the State Health Department Laboratories, blood samples are placed on special slides prepared by the automated machine's manufacturer - Aerojet Medical and Biological Systems. Each slide goes through different processing, solutions and incubation stages before it is read microscopically. The first slide takes almost an hour and 46 minutes for processing, but subsequent specimens follow at intervals of only one minute and 46 seconds.

In the State Health Department's pilot program blood samples are supplied from the Austin-Travis County Health Department.

It is a combination project, using both the conventional culture method and the indirect fluorescent antibody technique. In the culture method, a specimen is taken from the genital tract of a patient and placed in a special cultural medium. If gonorrhea bacteria are present, they will grow, revealing their presence.

The State Health Department's pilot study calls for some 4500 tests in determining if the test is worthwhile from the standpoint of results and cost.

'Oil Facts' Shows Decline In Crude Oil Production

Declining Texas crude oil production and the increased drilling stimulated by higher prices are noted in Texas Mid - Continent Oil & Gas Association's "74 Facts About Texas Oil and Gas," published this week for free public distribution.

The leaflet groups significant statistics and historical facts about the state's major industry under eight categories -- general, offshore, drilling, production, refining - processing, employment, economics and taxation.

The Association's annual "Facts" publication has for many years served as a handy industry reference for wide segments of the Texas public, ranging from government officials to college and high school students.

In commenting on the Texas energy scene, "74 Facts" notes that early in 1974 Texas began its third year of all-out oil production and that the state's economic and industrial activity was being affected by two significant trends.

These are listed as a slow decline in daily oil production because of the strain placed on older fields in trying to maintain high production levels, and a pickup in oil wildcatting which was being stimulated by higher prices paid producers for newly discovered oil and additional oil recovered from existing fields through modern recovery techniques.

According to "74 Facts" "Except for the threat of federal government manipulation and interference with economics and the law of supply and demand, there was optimism that the trend could continue."

Copies of "74 Facts About Texas Oil and Gas" are available to the public free on request to Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn. 1341 W. Mockingbird Lane, Suite 1111-E, Dallas 75247.

Grow Weeds For Quail Harvest

"Grow some weeds," might not be the greatest gardening tip in the world, but if you want quail on your farm or ranch, it's not bad advice.

Weeds are easy to grow, make lots of quail food, are inexpensive and require little or no cultivation, according to N.G. McMurry, a biologist in Carrizo Springs for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

"This is not to say that a man should convert his entire property into a weed patch to help quail," says McMurry, "but a few small patches of weeds cover in strategic locations can certainly be of benefit."

He says the seeds of many common Texas weeds such as sunflower, croton, ragweed and prickly poppy provide excellent quail and dove feed.

As anyone who has tried to grow a garden or lawn knows growing weeds is easy, as long as Mother Nature provides some rainfall.

Given adequate rainfall most sandy soils will grow quite a crop of weeds, according to McMurry. But an area of disturbed soil will invariably grow more weeds in sandy and especially in loamy and clay soils.

McMurry says the simplest way to create a food patch for quail is to use a disk harrow to break up small patches of ground near areas of good cover.

This disking should be done in spring or early summer. Disking strips along the edges of heavy brush, gounup fence rows or even along the borders of ranch roads works well.

Sailing Club Holds Regatta

The Brazos Sailing Club held the first of three regattas at Lake Somerville over the weekend. Trophies will be awarded after the final race. The game had the makings of a historic occasion, with the best in Little League from Hearne and Calvert pitted against the best from Franklin and Bremond. Winner of the playoffs advanced as champion against Waco.

New Guide To Outline Game Laws

Information on game and fish laws for coming seasons is contained in the new "Guide to Hunting and Freshwater Fishing Regulations, 1974-75" soon to be available wherever hunting and fishing licenses are sold.

The 20-page booklet from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department this year features a county-by-county listing of seasons and bag limits for popular game species along with fishing regulations. More detailed information is listed for licenses, tags and permits, minnows, fur-bearing animals and general freshwater sport fishing and hunting rules.

Not included and yet to be established by the Parks and Wildlife Commission are regulations for migratory game birds and commercial and saltwater fishing.

The hunting and freshwater fishing regulations will be available around August 16 at all Parks and Wildlife offices and from all license deputies at sporting goods and tackle stores who are bonded for the 1974-75 fiscal year.

Sew Up Deer Lease Before Fall

Sure it's hot, but you've got to start thinking about the hunting season, now.

If you haven't sewed up your lease agreements, for example, you're already behind schedule. The closer the season, the slimmer the pickings.

You can save yourself some headaches even at this date if you take care before signing an agreement.

Spelled out should be conditions for the protection of both parties and to prevent misunderstandings.

It should cover these points: what is leased, name of parties, description of tract including size and boundaries, the terms of the lease including the amount and time of payment, the duration of the lease, who is to hunt and the species of game animals, fish, game birds and varmints which may be taken.

Landowners should specify what services or facilities are included in the lease such as blinds, cabins, utilities and special permits.

A written lease, when properly acknowledged, can be recorded in the county records and is binding on the landowner should he decide to sell his property to another party.

For information concerning the proper legal form, an attorney may be helpful.

Leg Work Pays Off For SA Game Warden

Some leg work paid off for a Texas Parks and Wildlife Department game warden.

Glen Felps of San Antonio went to a residence in that city to serve a warrant on a suspect for a fishing violation. The young woman who answered his knock denied any knowledge of the suspect or his whereabouts.

But Felps has what department officials describe as a "sharp eye for details." He noticed the suspect's name tattooed on the young lady's knee.

When he called the young lady's attention to the tattoo, she reversed her story.

She had been married to the suspect, and she was able to direct Felps to the suspect's father who promised to pay the fine.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

A warranty, sometimes called a guarantee, is an assurance concerning the quality of something you buy. Since warranties are designed to protect consumers it's important to learn about and use them. There are two kinds of warranties, express and implied.

With an express warranty, the seller of merchandise actually gives assurance, by words or actions, about the quality of what you are buying. Here are some examples:

--Description. Such specifications as size, model, and color, if stated, guarantee that the product will conform to the description. A sale form which states "left hand door" for a refrigerator warrants that the door will swing to the left.

Performance. Such claims as "free of defects," "uses no oil between change," "will cool a room of 1800 cubic feet" are legally binding.

--Sample. A swatch of cloth or carpet from a bolt or roll creates a warranty that the merchandise purchased will be like the swatch.

--Model. A miniature aluminum window or door used by a salesman for demonstration warrants that the real thing will be like the miniature. A demonstration model of anything creates a warranty that the one purchased will perform the same way.

Implied warranties, on the other hand, depend on law-created assurances of quality regardless of claims or actions on the part of the merchant. Here are some examples of implied warranties:

--Appropriateness. If a consumer asks a hardware dealer for a product to strip paint from a chair, the law implies a warranty that the product sold will remove the paint.

--Merchantability. A merchant assures a consumer that goods are mer-chantable, that they work, and that they are "fit for their ordinary purposes." A car that won't steer or a kitchen stove that won't cook are examples of products that are not merchantable.

Who gives warranties? Sellers of goods are the main dispenser of express and implied warranties. In Texas, manufacturers also give implied warranties, and the law also creates an implied warranty from persons who provide services.

What are a consumer's legal remedies if warranties are not fulfilled?

A warranty and a remedy for the breach (or violation) of a warranty are not the same. For example, the express warranty connected with a new toaster may be that it will be free of defects for one year. The remedy offered may be that it will be repaired or parts replaced free of charge. Or an express warranty may assure a car owner that an engine coolant will stop leaks in the radiator. The remedy may be only the refund of the purchase price of the coolant if it doesn't stop leaks.

However, the law also gives consumers some additional remedies.

The most basic one is that a buyer doesn't have to accept goods that don't conform to a warranty. If a buyer does accept the goods and later finds that they do not conform, he can return them if the problem was not obvious at the time he accepted them or if the problem cannot be solved by the seller.

He will begin his sophomore year at the Academy in September.

JEFFREY MANNERS

Fuchu, Japan--Jeffrey C. Manners, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Manners, Cameron, has arrived for duty at Fuchu Air Station, Japan, from Castle AFB, Calif.

An Air Force airman first class, Manners is a communications specialist with the 1956th Communications Group.

He is a 1972 graduate of C. H. Yoe High School.

A French visionary named Catherine Theot declared that Robespierre was the Messiah. She was guillotined in 1795.

Aluminum Company of America reported net income for 1974's second quarter of $50.4 million, or $1.50 per common share.

Alcoa produces more aluminum in Texas than any other state and operates its largest smelter near Rockdale in Central Texas. The firm's biggest domestic bauxite refinery is located at Point Comfort along the Gulf Coast. Alcoa is building its fourth production facility in Texas near Palestine -- a new smelter.

The company's sales and operating revenues in the quarter were $703.2 million while income from operations netted $49.1 million.

Through the first six months of 1974, net income was $95.8 million, or $2.85 a share. For the period, return on invested capital (shareholders' equity plus long-term debt) was 8.1 percent on an annual basis. Return on shareholders' equity, also expressed on an annual basis, was 12.9 percent.

Sales and operating revenues for the first half were $1,357 million while income from operations totaled $92.4 million. Revenues, net income and income from operations were at record levels for a quarter and a six-month period.

"Despite record revenues and income, return on invested capital still is not high enough to support the capital investment needed to meet growing demand for aluminum," said John D. Harper, Alcoa board chairman.

Production of primary aluminum was 428,000 tons in the second quarter, and 853,000 tons through the first half. Shipments of aluminum products continued at a very high level, setting a record for any six-month period. Primary aluminum production set a quarterly and six-month record.

Clothing Reflects Personality

Clothing can be used as a clue to personality, one clothing specialist said.

"People with certain personality characteristics tend to choose the same kinds of clothing and the same colors," explained Margret Ann Vanderpoorten, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"People who are interested in clothes and have lots of them are often more sociable than those who have few clothes and little interest in them," she pointed out.

Warm colors such as red and yellow are often chosen by those who like entertaining and outdoor activities. The blues and greens are preferred by people who like indoor activities more and enjoy being alone.

"Generally, people who like strong, clear colors also like other people around them and are outgoing, while those who favor pale or subdued colors often prefer quiet activities and are more independent," the specialist said.

"However, many other things besides personality affect clothing choices," she reminded.
